

Abstract

The ring traveler (10) according to the invention has a noncoated core (20) which consists of iron material and which is provided with an, if appropriate, multipart nitrided edge layer (23; 24) at least in the region of the running surfaces (1) with which said core slides on a ring of a ring spinning or ring twisting machine.

(Figure 4)